Look Out for the Fake Sprinting Match.

It sounds like the fakes of 30 years ago to read about this clairvoyant who separated people of Barre and vicinity from more than $1,000 in a few days and then departed to other fields with money which his victims had left in the expectation of having a mystic charm upon it. Just what the Barre authorities were doing while the slick manipulator was getting in his fine work is not explained.

Somebody will be pulling off one of these fake sprinting championships in Barre if the officials don't watch out.—Brattleboro Reformer.

Dr. O. E. Barr of Cottage street went yesterday to Worcester to join a party of hunters who have been encamped near Shady Hill since the opening of the deer season.

Harry Bassett returned yesterday to Orleans, after passing the week end with Mrs. Bassett and daughter, who are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Waterman of Washington street.

Ernest Marchetti and A. Diversi of Concord, N. H., who is visiting friends in Barre, his former home, went to Burlington yesterday for a visit of a few days. John Carroll is substituting for Mr. Marchetti in the City wine store.

Adolfo Comolli of Comolli street returned yesterday from Peacham, where, with a party of friends, he was encamped during a part of the deer season. None of the Barre hunters in the camp was successful, but their host, Henry LaMarre, a lumber worker, brought down a 200-pound buck Saturday afternoon.

C. O. F. and A. O. U. E. attention! The "45" tournament between the A. O. U. E. and C. O. F. having ended in a tie, both teams have decided to celebrate with an old-fashioned dance on Thursday, Nov. 22, in K. of C. hall. All Foresters and Hibernians, with their lady friends, are invited to attend.

Vincent Catto, George Carle and Rene Bernasconi have returned from Pittsfield, where they have been passing 10 days in camp. Mr. Catto narrowly missed getting a deer, which bounded away just as the hunter was about to use his knife. Mr. Bernasconi, who shot a deer and a bear a year ago, was not so fortunate this season.

The woman's association of the Congregational church will hold an all-day meeting Wednesday in the church vestry. All the ladies are invited to come in the forenoon and help the comforters and they are also invited to bring lunch for themselves in a covered dish. In the afternoon the usual monthly business meeting will be held.

Winter's advance agent in the form of an icy breath from the north set the mercury a-sinking last night and evening readings indicated that the zero mark would be reached by morning. Spirit thermometers here in the city registered 8 to 10 degrees above, but during the night the temperature abated and a somewhat lusty snowstorm was in progress to-day.

Dispatches from Westfield, Mass., state that the New England troops who have been encamped at Camp Bartlett for several months are making earnest preparations for going south. The only units not preparing to leave are the 1st Vermont and the provisional colored battalion, which will be the last to leave the field. In the fragments of the 1st Vermont infantry there remain a number of Barre boys who were enlisted in Headquarters and C companies.

The honking of wild geese was heard over Barre at 7 o'clock this morning, when a flock, which descended near enough to the landscape to be counted with a fair degree of accuracy, circled through the sky as if undecided about the road to Tampa, Fla. Once the leader headed due south, only to veer in an easterly direction as the flock soared over Jockey Hollow. Leaden skies apparently confused the pilot, for the birds were making toward East Barre when they disappeared. There were around 50 travelers in the party.

Few teamsters were prepared for the slippery condition of the paved and concrete streets in Barre after the first snowfall yesterday, and during the day several mishaps occurred. At North Barre a horse attached to one of P. D. Molla's bakery carts skidded on the thills. The incident happened near noon and it required the combined efforts of several stonecutters to quiet the horse, a high spirited animal, and restore it to its feet. J. Aja, the Spanish butcher, lost time on his delivery route when his horse fell. As in the case of the Molla horse, one thill was fractured, but the butcher, after righting the horse, was able to resume his trip.

What is probably an authentic list of recent promotions at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., appeared in yesterday's Boston Globe and readers of The Times in this vicinity will be interested to learn that several young men who were called from this section of Vermont have been honored with assignments. In Battery A the list of privates who are advanced to the rank of sergeant includes Lucien T. Huntington of Barre and David R. Linkin, formerly of Barre, who was in the Windsor county draft while employed in Springfield. In Battery B the promotions noted include the following new sergeants: Walter J. Chynoweth of Williamstown, Henry St. Pierre and Leon J. Mayo of the same town. Newly made sergeants in C battery of the 302d field artillery include John Grover Kenefick and Robert B. Knox of Barre.

Eagles of Barre and Montpelier are to meet to-morrow evening for the first of a series of tournaments in pool, billiards, bowling, pitch and 45, a committee representing the two aeries having arranged for the matches. Questions of supremacy in pool, billiards and bowling will be settled at Merlo's academy on North Main street, while the card games are to be played in Eagles' hall in the Worthen block. Five men on a side are to participate in the bowling matches, and evenly divided teams will strive over the billiard and pool tables. The tournaments are to alternate between Barre and Montpelier during the winter months and a forfeit will be required of the losing aerie at the end of the series.

Mrs. J. D. Ossola of North Main street left last evening for Detroit, Mich., where she will join her husband, who has been employed there during the past year. Mrs. Ossola was accompanied by her son, Blossom J. Ossola, who will return to Flint, Mich., where he is employed in the Grand Trunk railway offices, after spending a vacation of two weeks at his home on North Main street, and by Henry Vanetti of Beckley street, a member of the 1917 graduating class of Spaulding high school. The latter completed his duties in the George Straiton granite office last Saturday, after having been employed there during the past few months. He has secured employment in Detroit.

Spaulding's basketball team had its first practice at the gymnasium yesterday afternoon, when about 20 candidates reported for practice. At a recent meeting of last year's players Geals was elected captain of the team and with him and Lyon, Mann, Morse and Young and a wealth of inexperienced players, the team to play under the red and blue colors this season should equal those of former years. Owing to the fact that Coach Brown of last year's quintet left last spring, James Kenefick, a former Spaulding athlete, and who officiated as referee in many of the games last year, is to have charge of the Spaulding team this season. Although the interscholastic basketball league has been organized, the schedule has not yet been arranged.

Handicapped but a little by the snow and wintry blasts, a gang of men brought together by Contractor J. C. DeBrune began work this morning on a water extension that is calculated to bring relief to many consumers in the vicinity of Blackwell and Center streets. The work has been authorized and the contract awarded by the city water department and it is thought that three weeks will be required to complete the job. The main line is to be extended a distance of 800 feet from the Central Vermont crossing on Blackwell street, to the stoned district south of the street, and thence to Center street, thereby supplying a fairly large number of patrons. While his men are mustered, Contractor DeBrune will extend the main for the benefit of the Central Vermont railroad off Blackwell street.

MONTPELIER

Getting Data to Pay the Vermont Soldiers for October.

Deputy Commissioner of Weights and Measures C. B. Scott, who, in conjunction with Major Stephen Cushing of the adjutant general's office, has charge of the payroll from which the soldiers in the war get their state pay, is compiling his data relative to the payment for the month of October. This will be delayed to some extent until the casualty list is received by the federal government, after which these officers will have to go to the headquarters of the northeastern department to ascertain facts for drawing the checks for the state pay to be sent to the assignees made by the soldiers.

A new service flag was thrown to the breeze Monday from the office of the National Life Insurance Co. There are 18 stars in the flag, which is the largest number appearing in any flag thrown to the breeze in Montpelier as yet by any one concern. The Tenney company is next with nine stars. Another flag which was recently thrown out is from the restaurant of Pierce & Clark, where three men have joined the colors and are either in France or on the way.

Chief W. A. Pattee of the fire department was on the anxious seat most of Monday because of the sudden change in the weather conditions to which the department will be subjected as long as horse-drawn equipment is used in the department. The freezing of the ground with the little snow on top of it made it so slippery that it was impossible to take the horses from the stable. However, Chief Pattee was ready for any occasion, having secured the use of three auto trucks in case an alarm arrived at the station. These included the Capital Hardware and Peck Bros. Co. Late in the afternoon he was able to have the horses shod with their winter "new slip" shoes, so that in the evening they were ready to respond to an alarm, if one occurred, which did not take place.

Miss Laura Burbank, secretary in the office of the commissioner of industries, fell on the slippery walks this morning while en route to her work, spraining one ankle. Several persons fell on the walks during the morning and Monday evening.

W. H. Jeffrey, secretary of charities and probation, leaves Wednesday morning for Rutland, where in the afternoon he speaks before the Rutland county women's clubs. He will then visit Poulinville, West Rutland, Shaftsbury and Bennington in conjunction with the child problem of his department.

State Fuel Administrator H. J. M.

Erskine. Mrs. Carrie Drew has purchased the T. C. Moriarty house on North Franklin street.

T. E. Callahan left last evening for a trip through the Middle West in the interests of the Columbian Granite Co. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Joslyn have returned from Boston.

Fred Bickford of Bradford was in the city last evening on his way to St. Albans, where to-day he was in conference as secretary of the Vermont Dayirmen's association relative to the annual meeting of the organization. St. Albans wants the association there this winter. They made a good showing with the state teachers' association and will make a strong bid for the dayirmen.

Mrs. Don DeColaines and Mrs. C. E. Jackson have gone to Plainfield, where they are handling the telephone exchange work in that town until an operator can be secured to take the place of the regular one, who has given up the work because of illness.

Last night the Y. M. C. A. war fund in Montpelier amounted to $4,350, with the high school efforts not yet reported. Over $500 had been subscribed in the high school, which will bring Montpelier's total to about $5,000, which is $500 more than the quota.
